Handicapped In Literature:

Disability in Modern Children's Fiction John Quicke, 2024-05-01 First published in 1985 Disability in Modern Children's Fiction presents a case for the inclusion of a planned element in the mainstream curriculum specifically designed to encourage positive attitudes and actions towards children with special needs and for utilising the possibilities inherent in fiction for helping all children to explore their thoughts and feelings in this area The central chapters of the book are concerned with a critical examination of specific texts focusing on how they deal with disability in a story context Books are grouped for discussion under common themes which have been teased out according to their contemporary relevance the effects on the family of a severely disabled child the struggle of a child with a disability for personal identity in oppressive social circumstances the interaction between disability race gender and social class the different reactions of normal children towards disabled peers the failings of the medical approach to disability love sex adolescence and disability the relationship between children and handicapped adults The penultimate chapter is concerned with an evaluation of picture books and quasi fiction for younger children This book will be of interest to students of disability studies pedagogy and literature

Krentz, 2022-04-22 Characters with disabilities are often marginalized in fiction but many occupy central places in literature by celebrated authors like Chinua Achebe Salman Rushdie J M Coetzee Anita Desai Jhumpa Lahiri Edwidge Danticat and others These authors deploy disability to do important cultural work writes Christopher Krentz in his innovative study Elusive Kinship Such representations not only relate to the millions of disabled people in the global South but also make more vivid such issues as the effects of colonialism global capitalism racism and sexism war and environmental disaster Krentz is the first to put the fields of postcolonial studies studies of human rights and literature and literary disability in conversation with each other in a book length study He enhances our appreciation of key texts of Anglophone postcolonial literature of the global South including Things Fall Apart and Midnight's Children. In addition, he uncovers the myriad ways fiction gains energy, vitality, and metaphoric force from characters with extraordinary bodies or minds. Depicting injustices faced by characters with disabilities is vital to raising awareness and achieving human rights. Elusive Kinship nudges us toward a fuller understanding of disability worldwide.

Disability, Literature, Genre Ria Cheyne, 2019

This title brings cultural disability studies and genre fiction studies into dialogue for the first time. Analysing representations of disability in contemporary science fiction, romance, fantasy, horror, and crime fiction, it offers new and transformative insights into both the workings of genre and the affective power of disability.
