Touch Screen Tablets Touching Children's Lives Joanne Tarasuik, Gabrielle Strouse, Jordy Kaufman, 2018-02-28 Touch screen tablets have greatly expanded the technology accessible to preschoolers toddlers and even infants given that they do not require the fine motor skills required for using traditional computers Many parents and educators wish to make evidence based decisions regarding young children s technology use yet technological advancements continue to occur faster than researchers can keep up with Accordingly despite touch screen tablets entering society more than 5 years ago we are in the infancy of research concerning interactive media and children The topic has gained traction in the past couple of years For example theoretical papers have discussed how interactive media activities differ from physical toys and passive media Christakis 2014 and how educational apps development should utilise the four pillars of learning Hirsh Pasek et al 2015 Yet there has been little experimental research published on young children and touch screen use

Neuro-Education and Neuro-Rehabilitation Eduardo Martínez-Montes, Julie Chobert, Mireille Besson, 2016-11-04 In the last decade important discoveries have been made in cognitive neuroscience regarding brain plasticity and learning such as the mirror neurons system and the anatomo functional organization of perceptual cognitive and motor abilities Time has come to consider the societal impact of these findings The aim of this Research Topic of Frontiers in Psychology is to concentrate on two domains neuro education and neuro rehabilitation At the interface between neuroscience psychology and education neuro education is a new inter disciplinary emerging field that aims at developing new education programs based on results from cognitive neuroscience and psychology For instance brain based learning methods are flourishing but few have been rigorously tested using well controlled procedures Authors of this Research Topic will present their latest findings in this domain using rigorously controlled experiments Neuro rehabilitation aims at developing new rehabilitation methods for children and adults with learning disorders Neuro rehabilitation programs can be based upon a relatively low number of patients and controls or on large clinical trials to test for the efficiency of new treatments These projects may also aim at testing the efficiency of video games and of new methods such as Trans Magnetic Stimulation TMS for therapeutic interventions in children or adolescents with learning disabilities This Research Topic will bring together neuroscientists interested in brain plasticity and the effects of training psychologists working with adults as well as with normally developing children and children with learning disabilities as well as education researchers directly confronted with the efficiency of education programs The goal for each author is to describe the state of the art in his her specific research domain and to illustrate how her his research findings can impact education in the classroom or rehabilitation of children and adolescents with learning disorders

Internment Refugee Camps Gabriele Anderl,Linda Erker,Christoph Reinprecht,2022-11-07 How did and does the fate of refugees unfold in internment camps The contributors to this book facilitate an extensive engagement with the organized state led and forced placement of refugees in the past and present They show the parallels and differences between the practices and types of internment in different countries while considering the specific historical contexts Moreover they highlight the nexus of relationships and agencies which constitute the camps in question as transitory spaces The contributions consist of analyses of local phenomena or case studies as well as comparative engagements from an international and or historical perspective
