Gelatin Is Getting It All Wrong Again:

Gelatin is Getting it All Wrong Again Gelatin, Norman Dubrow, 2003 This record of four Gelatin lectures given at New York's Leo Koenig Gallery in September-October 2001 is appropriately one of a kind. A large foldout cover contains two booklets. One photos of the lecture series audience touched up with plasticine. And two a facsimile of Norman Dubrow's handwritten lecture notes along with drawings that illustrate the lecture series. The book's jacket can be removed and hung as a poster.

The New Décor Ralph Rugoff, 2010 PREFACE These fleeting sketches are all republished by kind permission of the Editor of the DAILY NEWS in which paper they appeared. They amount to no more than a sort of sporadic diary, a diary recording one day in twenty which happened to stick in the fancy, the only kind of diary the author has ever been able to keep. Even that diary he could only keep by keeping it in public for bread and cheese. But trivial as are the topics they are not utterly without a connecting thread of motive. As the reader's eye strays with hearty relief from these pages it probably alights on something a bed post or a lamp post, a window blind or a wall.

Ephemera Christoph Thun-Hohenstein, Kathrin Pokorny-Nagel, 2017 The extensive collection of MAK Library's graphic design and works on paper was put within covers and titled Ephemera. The word comes from the Greek word ephemerous meaning lasting only one day, short-lived, loosely translated a term most often used in biological context to identify particularly short-lived animals or plants. The publication that goes by the same name by the Museum für Angewandte Kunst presents an impressive collection of consumer graphics from the 18th century all the way to the present including graphic works such as letters and colored papers, envelopes, invitations, concert and movie tickets and labels, ex libris, congratulations cards, bookmarks and menu cards, complaints, stamps, playing cards, dance and table cards, business cards and advertising material. What exactly makes them interesting is their unique short-livedness; these items are often very beautifully and skilfully designed and of high technical quality. They represent artistic movements of different times as well as social rites, personal and commercial forms of representation and advertising strategies together offering a rare cross view over these easily discarded yet momentarily highly valued items. Ephemera looks into the meaning and value of items that have lost their original meaning such as admission tickets whose validity became obsolete over a century ago, business cards whose owners passed away decades ago, greeting cards whose occasions long since became history. Christoph Thun-Hohenstein explains in his introduction. But the publication is so much more than an exhibition of ancient paraphilia but a treasure chest of cultural history. The book itself is beautiful with a sturdy wood relief printed on the Crush Corn 120gsm cover that protects the 464 GardaPat Kiara 135gsm pages within with a red edge printing. Class Koloman Moser's model paper from around 1905 making Ephemera a crown jewel of your bookcase. <https://www.designandpaper.com/ephemera-graphic-design-mak-library-works-paper-collection>
