Redefining Black Film Mark A. Reid, 1993-02-23 Can films about black characters produced by white filmmakers be considered black films In answering this question Mark Reid reassesses black film history carefully distinguishing between films controlled by blacks and films that utilize black talent but are controlled by whites Previous black film criticism has buried the true black film industry Reid says by concentrating on films that are about but not by blacks Reid's discussion of black independent films defined as films that focus on the black community and that are written directed produced and distributed by blacks ranges from the earliest black involvement at the turn of the century up through the civil rights movement of the Sixties and the recent resurgence of feminism in black cultural production His critical assessment of work by some black filmmakers such as Spike Lee notes how these films avoid dramatizations of sexism homophobia and classism within the black community In the area of black commercial film controlled by whites Reid considers three genres African American comedy black family film and black action film He points out that even when these films use black writers and directors a black perspective rarely surfaces Reid's innovative critical approach which transcends the black image language of earlier studies and at the same time redefines black film makes an important contribution to film history Certain to attract film scholars this work will also appeal to anyone interested in African American and Women's Studies Production

Design in the Contemporary American Film Beverly Heisner, 2004-01-30 While the viewer's eyes are trained on the actors the production design sets the mood for the film The design also subtly comments on the action and the characters moves the plot forward and adds to its symbolic content The production design of 23 films of the 1980s and 1990s is analyzed here The films are divided into five areas realistic films set in the present day stylized films including horror set in the present day period films period films that move through several decades and science fiction and fantasy films Among the movies analyzed are The Silence of the Lambs She's Gotta Have It The Fisher King Ragtime Barton Fink Goodfellas and Alien The quality of the designs is assessed by a careful reading of the mise en scene Often the designers own words are used to describe the effects and the process involved in achieving them New York Magazine, 1986-08-18 New York magazine

Vest,2014-09-30 Spike Lee's journey from guerrilla filmmaker to Hollywood insider is explored in light of his personal background the cultural influence of his films and the extensive scholarship his movies have inspired This insightful study probes the iconic filmmaker's career as a director and shaper of American culture It not only sheds light on the ways in which Lee's background influences and outlook affect his films but also discusses how he participates in transforms and transcends the tradition of black American filmmaking Each chapter offers a critical assessment of at least one and sometimes multiple Lee films examining their production history their place in Lee's filmography and their aesthetic cultural and historical significance Readers will come away from this first scholarly assessment of Lee's career and work with a better understanding of his penchant for stirring up controversy about significant social political and artistic issues as well as his role as an American artist who provokes his audiences as much as he pacifies them The Key ,1921 The Saturday Evening Post ,1928
