

GENESIS

1 The beginning in the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. ² Now the earth was formless and empty, darkness was over the surface of the deep, and the Spirit of God was hovering over the waters.

³ And God said, 'Let there be light,' and there was light. ⁴ God saw that the light was good, and he separated the light from the darkness. ⁵ God called the light 'day', and the darkness he called 'night'. And there was evening and there was morning - the first day.

⁷ And God said, 'Let the land and the sea be fruitful and increase in number; let the land bring forth its seed, and let the sea and the birds in the sky be filled with living creatures.' And there was morning - the third day.

⁸ And God said, 'Let the land produce living creatures according to their kind, and the sea and the birds in the sky be filled with living creatures, each according to its kind.' And God created the large sea animals and all the creatures that crawl on the ground and all the birds in the sky. And God said, 'Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kind, and the sea and the birds in the sky be filled with living creatures, each according to its kind.' And God created the large sea animals and all the creatures that crawl on the ground and all the birds in the sky. And God said, 'Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kind, and the sea and the birds in the sky be filled with living creatures, each according to its kind.' And God created the large sea animals and all the creatures that crawl on the ground and all the birds in the sky.
