From Geography To Affinity:

From Geography to Affinity Lyle E. Schaller, 2003 At the same time others conclude also incorrectly that there is nothing wrong with current denominational structures and that congregations need simply to align themselves with their denomination's directions more thoroughly To these bad choices Schaller proposes an alternative He observes that many congregations already seek to extend their mission and make their ministries more effective by participating in affinity networks groups of congregations that share particular goals and visions Schaller suggests the establishment of such networks within rather than outside of denominations He argues that they should be established on the judicatory level

The Seven Deadly Sins of Small Group Ministry Bill Donahue, Russ G. Robinson, 2009-08-30 Assessment and solution for seven common obstacles to building small groups It's one thing to start a small group ministry It's another to keep the groups in your church healthy and headed in the same direction Whatever your church's approach maybe whether it is a church with groups or of groups sooner or later as a leader you'll need to do some troubleshooting That's when the expert to the point guidance in this book will prove its worth The beauty of this book lies in its unique diagnostic process It allows you to assess diagnose and correct seven common deadly sins that can drain the life from your church's small group ministry In The Seven Deadly Sins of Small Group Ministry what would take you years to learn through trial and error is distilled into some of the most useful information you can find Drawing on the knowledge they've gleaned from working inside Willow Creek Community Church from consulting with hundreds of churches and from conducting conferences and seminars worldwide small group experts Bill Donahue and Russ Robinson furnish you with proven real life solutions to the toughest problems in your small group ministry This is not theory it is hands on material you can read and apply today

African Studies in Geography from Below Ben Arrous, Lazare Ki-Zerbo, 2009-11-01 The doctrine of international relations inter state indeed territorial ideologies the logic of autochthony and its ramifications ethnic cleansing are all hinged at different levels upon the same pseudo fact to every society a closed and exclusive territory demarcated by fixed and linear borders This way of thinking totally foreign to African societies for a long time has generated today more contradictions than it can ever solve The authors of this book make a clear distinction between territory formation from the top as being a deliberate political project and its formation from below as being a more diffused historical process which is determined by the scheme of antagonisms and compromises between social forces In lieu of a stark opposition between the top and below the authors unveil the interdependence and mutual influence which form the basis of a dual system within which legal formation by the colonial authorities first then by the postcolonial one is confronted with a host of subaltern spatial dynamics neglecting thereby the legitimacy which only they can provide As an essential read for anyone who is interested in the relationship between knowledge and power this book offers stimulating perspectives on the issue of African unity and its epistemological and political challenges It renews profoundly our approaches to human security citizenship borders and mobility
