Gulf Commitment The Australian Defence Forces First War:

The Gulf Commitment David Murray Horner, 1992-01-01 Australia played a minor role in the Gulf War of 1990-91 but that involvement was an important episode in the history of the Australian Defence Force. Created in the 1970s the Australian Defence Force is intended to reflect new defence priorities. In the Gulf War it faced its first test. Joint Force Quarterly, 1993. Joint Force Quarterly is published for the Chairman Joint Chiefs of Staff by the Institute for National Strategic Studies, National Defense University to promote understanding of the integrated employment of land, sea, air, space and special operations forces. The journal focuses on joint doctrine, coalition warfare, contingency planning, combat operations conducted by the unified commands and joint force development. Australian Defence Force Journal, 2000. Strategy and Command David Horner, 2021-10-15. In Strategy and Command David Horner provides an important insight into the strategic decisions and military commanders who shaped Australia's army history from the Boer War to the evolution of the command structure for the Australian Defence Force in the 2000s. He examines strategic decisions such as whether to go to war, the nature of the forces to be committed to the war, where the forces should be deployed and when to reduce the Australian commitment. The book also recounts decisions made by commanders at the highest level which are passed on to those at the operational level who are then required to produce their own plans to achieve the government's aims through military operations. Strategy and Command is a compilation of research and writing on military history by one of Australia's pre-eminent military historians. It is a crucial read for anyone interested in Australia's involvement in 20th century wars.

The Oxford Companion to Australian Military History Peter Dennis, 1995. This is a comprehensive guide to Australian military history broadly conceived within a critical and analytical framework. It contains 800 entries. The editors have sought a balance between various types of entries. Their interpretation of military history is inclusive, extending beyond standard categories such as battles, campaigns, biographies and weapons, and encompassing entries on the structures of various parts of the defence force, organization and their evolution, military language and customs, literature dealing with military themes and treaties, alliances and acts of parliament that have had a significant impact on the military. Biographical entries vary from long analytical essays on figures such as Thomas Blamey and C. E. W. Bean to much shorter entries on figures of less importance. Not every Chief of General Staff or RAN and RAAF equivalent has an entry as the editors say some were undistinguished. All office holders of significant rank within the three services are listed in an appendix. No attempt is made to duplicate the Australian Dictionary of Biography, nor, except in two instances, have the editors commissioned articles on specific individuals from the historians who wrote those particular entries for ADB. The editors' focus is different, combining essential biographical facts with more commentary and analysis. Battles are grouped into overall campaigns, thus providing a more integrated approach, enabling greater analysis of broader issues. The Companion offers essential technical details on every significant weapons system employed in the three services since their inception, together with comments that help place those systems in an operational and sometimes political context In addition there are several longer articles on key aspects of military history and culture The entry on conscription while not neglecting past controversies explains the mechanics of the various methods There is an absorbing entry on the ways in which animals have been used by the military Aboriginal resistance to white invasion is covered in a long entry as is Aboriginal service in the armed forces There are also several articles on military influences in Australian culture war films literature art popular culture Complete with 100 photographs and 32 maps the result is a comprehensive work of reference analysis and interest that will come to be regarded as the authoritative work in the field Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia, 1988 Defence and Industry Stewart Woodman, 1992 The Military Dimension of Common Security Andrew Butfofy, 1992 Australia I. Keparas, 1994 Struggling for Self Reliance Bob Breen, 2008 This monograph is a force projection audit of four Australian regional force projections in the late 1980s and the 1990s valid measures of competence It concludes that Australia is running out of luck and time Giving Peace a Chance Bob Breen, 2001 Australasia and South Pacific Islands Bibliography John Thawley, 1997-02-20 This selective bibliography of nearly 6 000 items concentrates on monographs published during the last fifty years updating other major bibliographies on the Australasian and South Pacific region Annual Report - Research School of Pacific Studies Australian National University.
