Macintyre, Tom Stannage, 2013-04-18 It is time to reassess the work of Geoffrey Blainey and consider his role in Australian history politics and public life Geoffrey Blainey has steered Australian history into the nation's conversation No one would dispute that he is a courageous public intellectual a writer of rare grace and a master storyteller And he has indeed provoked a rare fuss both public and professional with some of his comments on Asian immigration and Aboriginal land rights Blainey has challenged the academic history profession not only with his ideas but also by his practice A brilliant student he looked set for Oxford but chose instead the austere west coast of Tasmania for his postgraduate research For the next decade he earned a living with his pen And instead of political history in the traditional academic mould he wrote corporate histories that dispensed with footnotes Always probing and speculative Blainey has dislodged many of the keystones in our understandings of Australia's past He was one of the first to write about the expansive social history of this land before 1788 he questioned whether Botany Bay was founded primarily as a convict colony he argued that the Eureka uprising had economic rather than political causes and he identified sport as a neglected key to the Australian character His controversial views earned such newspaper headlines as Brave Man Set Upon by Thugs for Telling Truth In The Fuss That Never Ended a lively and distinguished assembly of fellow historians of various ages interests and political stances take a fresh look at Blainey's remarkable and sometimes controversial career Mining and Scientific Press, 1921 The AusIMM Bulletin, 1990 The Rivers of China Alma De Groen, 1988 In 1923 Katherine Mansfield visits a guru In the 1980s a young man wakes in hospital to find a world dominated by women As each struggles to discover their true identity their separate stories intriguingly interweave 2 acts 4 men 3 women The Touch of Silk (1955 Revision) Betty Roland, 1988 Second play Granite Peak has Aboriginal character Charlie sympathetic exploration of attitudes towards Aboriginal struggle for equality Trade Secrets Terence Crawford, 2005 Australian actors are now taking their place on the international stage becoming regulars among the nominees and winners of major international acting awards They are famously indifferent to the honing of their skills outside of the actual workplace this book is a response to a nagging feeling I've had for many years that Australian actors are making it up as they go along Terence Crawford So what is it about the approach technique and focus of the Australian actor that has the entertainment world's favour and respect How do our best actors do what they do Trade Secrets is a fascinating examination of the acting processes of fourteen of Australia's finest actors and will feature interviews with Paula Arundell Bille Brown Helen Buday Joel Edgerton Judi Farr John Gaden Paul Goddard Robert Grubb Wendy Hughes Heather Mitchell Sean O Shea Pamela Rabe Geoffrey Rush and Charles Bud Tingwell Each chapter gives an overview of the actor's life training inspiration and reputation followed by an extensive interview with them about their craft and how they approach it Engineering and Mining Journal, 1923 Engineering and Mining Journal-press, 1923
