Forest Fire A Disaster:

Forest Fire Christopher Lampton, 1991-01-01 Discusses the history and causes of forest fires the destruction they bring and its ecological effect fire fighting and the question of whether naturally occurring fires should be fought or not Forest Fire Christopher Lampton, 1991 Describes what causes forest fires how they are detected techniques used to put them out and the damage that is done Reexamines sometimes beneficial effects on plant and animal life The Science of Forest Fires Carol Hand, 2019-07-15 Forest fires occur all over the world Some are small while others span across states and countries This book explores the science behind forest fires how they start the damage they do and ways to plan and prepare for the natural disaster Through maps photographs and fast facts readers will understand the workings of forest fires and their impact on the environment They will likewise learn about ways fires are measured where they happen and what weather conditions are needed to create these powerful events Forest Fire Creates Inferno Louise Spilsbury, Richard Spilsbury, 2017-12-15 Forest fires can happen naturally but the truth is that people cause them too often to terrible consequences Readers learn how they start in both cases as well as how these fires spread the damage they cause the environment and how firefighters fight them on the ground and in the air Case studies of recent forest fires including the 2016 fires in California provide readers with real life examples to encourage connections between the book's STEM content and social studies concepts of conservation community engagement and the huge project of cleaning up a natural disaster like a forest fire Flames in Our Forest Stephen F. Arno, Stephen Allison-Bunnell, 2013-04-10 Shaped by fire for thousands of years the forests of the western United States are as adapted to periodic fires as they are to the region's soils and climate Our widespread practice of ignoring the vital role of fire is costly in both ecological and economic terms with consequences including the decline of important fire dependent tree and undergrowth species increasing density and stagnation of forests epidemics of insects and diseases and the high potential for severe wildfires Flames in Our Forest explains those problems and presents viable solutions to them It explores the underlying historical and ecological reasons for the problems associated with our attempts to exclude fire and examines how some of the benefits of natural fire can be restored Chapters consider the history of American perceptions and uses of fire in the forest how forest fires burn effects of fire on the soil water and air methods for uncovering the history and effects of past fires prescribed fire and fuel treatments for different zones in the landscape Flames in Our Forest presents a new picture of the role of fire in maintaining forests describes the options available for restoring the historical effects of fires and considers the implications of not doing so It will help readers appreciate the importance of fire in forests and gives a nontechnical overview of the scientific knowledge and tools available for sustaining western forests by mimicking and restoring the effects of natural fire regimes Phenomenal Disaster Kenneth Pinkham, 2017-10-08 On the evening of October 8th 1871 about 200 miles north of Chicago in Wisconsin a sudden tempest of wind and fire flattened several hundred square miles including Williamsonville and Peshtigo about 22 miles apart

Is it possible that a high altitude meteor airburst caused the destruction Extensive research for this book included more than fifty sources in an attempt to better understand the enormous unprecedented scale of devastation and to explore different possibilities To better visualize the scale and locations relative to each other the different towns involved and the timing various tools like Google Earth and the Earth Impact Effects Program were utilized Many details were gained from quotes of those who survived to tell the tragic stories of the many who did not After learning many details comparisons were made to the destruction and witness stories of known impact events mainly the 1908 Tunguska and 2013 Chelyabinsk events Every day atoms of magnesium and iron that once formed asteroids are separated from meteoroids by ablation during entry high speed entry into the Earth s atmosphere It can be demonstrated that the known properties of the common elements magnesium and iron could explain most of the other phenomena that was reported to have occurred If there was an airburst above Peshtigo Harbor on October 8th 1871 then pieces likely landed somewhere There happens to be a pond on the upper peninsula of Door County which is in the perfect size and place for a crater in the scenario explored in this book Thorp Pond is suspected by some locals of being a meteor crater though currently it is not confirmed by any evidence and is not included in the Impact Database Finally I noted phenomena that occurred around the world shortly after the fire as possible indicators that the atmosphere contained large amounts of magnesium and nickel after the fire
