Farming Around The World:

Diversity of Family Farming Around the World Pierre-Marie Bosc, Jean-Michel Sourisseau, Philippe Bonnal, Pierre Gasselin, Élodie Valette, Jean-François Bélières, 2019-01-08 This book aims at explaining the nature and strength of the links between the families and their farms looking at their diversity throughout the world To do so it documents family farming diversity by using the sustainable rural livelihood SRL framework exploring their ability to adapt and transform to changing environments In 18 case studies in Asia Africa Latin America and Europe it shows how family farms resist under adverse conditions seize new opportunities and permanently transform Family farms far from being backwards are potential solutions to face the current challenges and shape a new future for agriculture taking advantage of their local knowledge and capacity to cope with external constraints Many co authors of the book have both an empirical and theoretical experience of family farming in developed and developing countries and their related institutions They specify what makes and means family in family farming and the diversity of their expertise draws a wide and original picture of this resilient way of farming throughout the world

Farms Around the World Catherine Veitch, 2011-07 Introduces the topics of farms and farming describing how farms all over the world produce foods and materials we need for everyday life

World Agriculture Watch operational guidelines Einarsson, H., He, P., Lansley, J., 2024-08-06 This technical book provides operational and simple guidelines to produce data sets at farm household level to characterize the diversity of family farms It is structured around three main sections The first section presents the World Agriculture Watch WAW harmonized analytical framework to characterize the diversity of family farms including a subsection linking farm level with landscape and territorial approaches The second section provides simple and robust guidance to engage into data production at farm family household level The third section gives orientations on how to use data sets to help define inclusive and targeted investments strategies and programs to strengthen the productive capacities of family farms using data sets to define typologies and information systems to monitor the effects of the investments

Family Farming and the Worlds to Come Jean-Michel Sourisseau, 2014-11-05 What is family farming How can it help meet the challenges confronting the world How can it contribute to a sustainable and more equitable development Not only is family farming the predominant form of agriculture around the world especially so in developing countries it is also the agriculture of the future By declaring 2014 the International Year of Family Farming the United Nations has placed this form of production at the center of debates on agricultural development These debates are often reduced to two opposing positions The first advocates the development of industrial or company agriculture supposedly efficient because it follows industrial processes for market oriented mass production The second promotes the preservation of family farming with its close links between family and farm The authors of this book wish to enrich the debates by helping overcome stereotypes which often manifest through the use of terms such as small scale farming subsistence farming peasant etc Research work has emphatically demonstrated the great adaptability of family farming systems and their ability to meet the major challenges of tomorrow but it has also not overlooked their limitations The authors explore the choices facing society and possible development trajectories at national and international levels and the contribution that agriculture will have to make They call for a recommitment of public policies in favor of family farming in developing countries and stress the importance of planning actions targeted at and tailored to the family character of agricultural models But above all they highlight the need to overcome strictly sectoral rationales by placing family farming at the core of a broader economic and social project This book is the result of a collaborative effort led by CIRAD and encapsulates three decades of research on family farming It will interest researchers teachers and students and all those involved in national and international efforts for the development of countries in the South

Pritchard,2001 Once patronized primarily by the counterculture and the health food establishment the organic food industry today is a multi billion dollar business driven by ever growing consumer demand for safe food and greater public awareness of ecological issues Assumed by many to be a recent phenomenon that industry owes much to agricultural innovations that go back to the Dust Bowl era This book explores the roots and branches of alternative agricultural ideas in twentieth century America showing how ecological thought has challenged and changed agricultural theory practice and policy from the 1930s to the present It introduces us to the people and institutions who forged alternatives to industrialized agriculture through a deep concern for the enduring fertility of the soil a passionate commitment to human health and a strong advocacy of economic justice for farmers Randal Beeman and James Pritchard show that agricultural issues were central to the rise of the environmental movement in the United States As family farms failed during the Depression a new kind of agriculture was championed based on the holistic approach taught by the emerging science of ecology Ecology influenced the permanent agriculture movement that advocated such radical concepts as long term land use planning comprehensive soil conservation and organic farming

Then in the 1970s sustainable agriculture combined many of these ideas with new concerns about misguided technology and an over consumptive culture to preach a more sensible approach to farming In chronicling the overlooked history of alternative agriculture A Green and Permanent Land records the significant contributions of individuals like Rex Tugwell Hugh Bennett Louis Bromfield Edward Faulkner Russell and Kate Lord Scott and Helen Nearing Robert Rodale Wes Jackson and groups like Friends of the Land and the Practical Farmers of Iowa And by demonstrating how agriculture also remains central to the public interest especially in the face of climatic crises genetically altered crops and questionable uses of pesticides this book puts these issues in historical perspective and offers readers considerable food for thought Ford
