Economic Reforms In New Democracies:

Economic Reforms in New Democracies Luiz Carlos Bresser Pereira, José María Maravall, Adam Przeworski, 1993-04-30 This assessment of the experiences of political transition in Southern Europe Latin America and Eastern Europe implies that the most successful reforms have been those resolved through democratic negotiation as opposed to the big bang approach Economic Reforms in New Democracies Luiz Carlos Bresser Pereira, José María Maravall, Adam Przeworski, 1993 Economic Reforms in New Democracies José María Maravall, 1991 Bridging the Gap Council of Europe. Parliamentary Assembly, 1995-01-01 Political social guidelines for the governments of Europe's new democracies which now realize the human costs of economic reforms undertaken since 1989 Economic Reform and Democracy Larry Jay Diamond, Marc F. Plattner, 1995 The emergence of new democracies in Eastern Europe has raised anew the question of the relationship between economic reform and political liberalization This work brings together a group of authorities to examine this question as it relates to Latin America Europe Asia and Africa The Political Economy of Democratic Transitions Stephan Haggard, Robert R. Kaufman, 2018-06-05 In the last two decades there has been a widespread movement from authoritarian to democratic rule among developing countries often occurring against a backdrop of severe economic crises and the adoption of market oriented reforms The coincidence of these events raises long standing questions about the relationship between economic and political change In this book Stephan Haggard and Robert Kaufman explore this relationship addressing a variety of questions What role have economic crises played in the current wave of political liberalization and democratization Can new democracies manage the daunting political challenges posed by economic reform Under what economic and institutional conditions is democracy most likely to be consolidated Drawing on contemporary political economy and the experiences of twelve Latin American and Asian countries they develop a new approach to understanding democratic transitions Haggard and Kaufman first analyze the relationship between economic crisis and authoritarian withdrawal and then examine how the economic and institutional legacies of authoritarian rule affect the capacity of new democratic governments to initiate and sustain economic policy reform Finally the authors analyze the consolidation of political and economic reform over the long run Throughout they emphasize the relationship between economic conditions the interests and power of contending social groups and the mediating role of representative institutions particularly political parties The Construction of Democracy Jorge I. Domínguez, Anthony Jones, 2007-07-06 How should democracies balance the hopes and constraints of their societies with the architecture of their constitutions and institutions to secure freedom promote citizenship and foster prosperity In The Construction of Democracy leading scholars from seven different countries and key decision makers from eight come together to analyze the dimensions of democratic design and draw not only practical but feasible recommendations Here citizens politicians and government officials offer valuable insight into the craft of politics with real examples of success and failures from some of the leading policy makers of our time including the president of Portugal former presidents of Brazil and Colombia and a former prime minister of India Drawing on the work of the Club of Madrid s Conference on Democratic Transition and Consolidation the contributors discuss building and sustaining a contemporary democratic state strengthening pluralism and public participation designing effective constitutions confronting economic challenges for new democracies and controlling corruption In a rare instance where the expertise of practical minded scholars is melded with the experience of thoughtful policy makers this volume offers much needed insight to others seeking sensible and effective solutions Contributors Carlos Blanco minister for the reform of the state Venezuela Fernando Henrique Cardoso former president of Brazil Anibal Cavaco Silva president of Portugal António Guterres Director of the Research Service of the Brazilian Chamber of Deputies Rut Diamint Universidad Torcuato Di Tella Buenos Aires Jorge I Domínguez Harvard University Grzegorz Ekiert Harvard University César Gaviria former president of Colombia Anna Grzymala Busse University of Michigan Inder Kumar Gujral former prime minister of India Anthony Jones the Gorbachev Foundation of North America Marcelo Barroso Lacombe the Research Service of the Brazilian Chamber of Deputies Jos Luis Méndez El Colegio de México Andrew Richards Instituto Juan March of the Centro de Estudios Avanzados de Ciencias Sociales Madrid Susan Rose Ackerman Yale University Richard Simeon University of Toronto Luc Turgeon University of Toronto

Economic Adjustment in New Democracies D. Ethier,1997-05-29 The politics of economic adjustment in new democracies has received a lot of attention However none of the most recent examinations provide a thorough comparative analysis of Southern Europe Ethier s book fills this gap The book challenges many existing preconceptions about Southern Europe while confirming and complementing the main assertions of comparable studies on Eastern Europe Latin America Asia and Africa

Economic Institutions and Democratic Reform Ole Nørgaard,2000 Using primary quantitative data and statistical analyses this book argues that there is no universally applicable strategy for economic reform and that popular democracy rather than a president or executive is often the foundation of a successful economy

Economic Reforms in New Democracies José María Maravall (économiste.),1991

The Political Cost of Economic Reform in Central and Eastern Europe Amanda G. Rose,1999 From the beginning of the transitions to democracy and the market politicians knew that major economic reform would come at a political cost A politician s choice of lower cost reform appears on its face to be a reasonable even rational choice With a decline in living conditions high cost reform appears to be political suicide as the lives of voters worsen voters will select a new government at the very least The political cost of reform may include a range of political costs from increased economic and political disaffection to support for extremist parties and perhaps a return to authoritarianism In this project I compare countries which implemented high cost shock therapy style reform programs Poland Czech Republic and Bulgaria to countries which implemented policies with lower short term social costs Hungary and Romania and examine the political costs that resulted I use public opinion data collected by the European Union Central and Eastern Eurobarometer and by Poland s Center for Public Opinion Research and examine the data using categorical data methods and time series analysis The empirical evidence suggests that political costs such as economic and political disaffection exist regardless of cross national differences in social cost And governments receive one benefit in this initial reform period evidence from monthly Polish public opinion data suggests that reformers benefit from a period of extraordinary politics in the first eighteen months of the transition a period in which economic assessments only weakly affect political assessments Furthermore more serious political costs are much less likely to be paid by these new regimes Extremist parties have emerged and gained support but these parties have largely played a marginal role in the politics of these countries with one key exception discussed in this project

Democracy, Markets, and Structural Reform in Latin America William C. Smith,Carlos H. Acuña,Eduardo Gamarra,1994 Analyses processes of democratization and economic reform in five Latin American countries from the early 1980s to 1993

The Political Economy of Fiscal Reform in Central-Eastern Europe Frank Bönker,2006 This insightful book examines the necessary conditions for the successful initiation and consolidation of unpopular economic reforms Drawing on the burgeoning literature in the area of policy reform it features a comparative analysis of fiscal reform in Hungary Poland and the Czech Republic at different stages of the post communist transformation This analysis demonstrates that a significant number of the national differences in fiscal reform can be attributed to differences in political constraints It also reveals that these very constraints change in the course of transformation and have become increasingly similar to the standard restrictions which exist in the traditional EU and OECD countries This in depth analysis of the changing role of political determinants in post communist fiscal reform will strongly appeal to economists and political scientists interested in the political economy of policy reform post communist economic transformation and the role of international organizations IMF EU in shaping domestic policy making Policy analysts interested in fiscal reform in Hungary Poland and the Czech Republic will also find much to interest them in this book
