Economics Special Edition:

Pakistan Rashid Amjad, Shahid Javed Burki, 2015-04-13 This book discusses the fundamental constraints that need to be overcome to move the economy of Pakistan to higher growth Economics: Special Edition with Global Economic Watch

Mark P. Taylor, Nicholas Gregory Mankiw, 2010-05-07 This Special edition of Mankiw and Taylor's Economics provides highly topical and in depth coverage of the global financial crisis of 2007-2009. Two new chapters are included: one on the causes of the recession and one on the remedies available to resolve it. Using a rich array of real life examples, these new chapters provide students with up to date real world insights into economic crises. Alongside these two new chapters, several of the existing chapters have been carefully revised and updated to clarify and enhance their content and further expand students' knowledge of economic theory. All of the features that made the original edition so successful and well regarded have been retained, including the classic Ten Principles approach to economics introduced in Chapter One and then referred to throughout the book, the distinctly European flavour including reference to UK and European institutions and policy, familiar terminology and cultural references, predominant use of the euro in discussions and UK and European case studies and press extracts.

The Next Economics Woodrow W. Clark II, 2012-12-05 The Next Economics focuses on how the field of economics must change and incorporate environment, energy, health and new technologies that are called externalities for stopping and reversing climate change. The field of economics needs to become a science. Economics in this book is for the Green Industrial Revolution, which goes beyond the third industrial revolution since it covers cases, examples and specific economic analyses that are both scientific and global. The book concerns climate change and how the Economics for Externalities needs to range from energy and national security to infrastructure and communities. Solutions and cases of the Next Economics are based in western philosophical economic paradigms and how that is changing due to the significance of current global economic and societal concerns. Finally, practical applications for economics are explored using global environmental and energy issues. Areas that need a fresh look at and be integrated with economics include the environment, social and political issues, energy, health, climate change and their infrastructures as they are major components of the macroeconomics for the future. Based on past economic models, these subjects have been lost or ill fitted into modern economic theory. The challenge is to explore and to look deeply into economics in order to provide it a new direction with the possibility for understanding, changing and saving the planet from climate change. This book presents to economists and policy makers alike areas of environmental economics, energy policy, health and social issues which are needed to stop and reverse climate change.

Special Issue: Covid-19 Economics Yongseok Shin, Guillaume Vandenbroucke, 2022 Agent Based Models for Economic Policy Advice

Blake LeBaron, Peter Winker, 2016-11-21 This special issue of the Journal of Economics and Statistics is devoted to the use of agent based models for economic policy advice. It presents a collection of research papers in different fields of applications. Special emphasis is laid on discussing the potential and possible limitations of agent based models for economic policy advice The editorial provides an overview on the role of agent based modeling in economic policy referring also to the papers presented Furthermore it highlights the strength of the approach i e the explicit microfoundation and the modeling of heterogenous agents Finally we also report on current limitations of the method with regard to economic policy advice and point at some areas deserving further research

Rapid Population Change in China, 1952-1982 National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Population and Demography, 1984-01-01 The remarkable changes in fertility nuptiality and mortality that have occurred in the People s Republic of China from the early 1950s to 1982 are summarized in this report Data are based largely on the single year age distributions tabulated in the 1953 1964 and 1982 censuses of China and a major 1982 fertility survey
