Negation, Text Worlds, and Discourse Laura Hidalgo Downing, 2000-05 This work originates from the need to develop an integrated dynamic model of negation in discourse that is adequate for understanding the role of negation in an extensive and complex piece of discourse Most work on negation is strongly influenced by traditional philosophical problems but little work has been carried out in the area of discourse Approaches to negation within the functional cognitive tradition tend to focus on specific agents of negation its function as a speech act or its cognitive model Few attempts have been made to propose an integrated discourse model studies of negation with few exceptions tend to be limited to brief selections or isolated sentences This book fills the gap in studies of negation in discourse by providing an up to date critical review of the state of the art in negation and by proposing a model that brings together the semantic cognitive and pragmatic features of negation which are crucial

Fictions of India Peter Morey, 2000 Fictions of India explores the relation of narrative technique to issues of power in the work of selected writers dealing with India It examines the imperial context in which the writers operate and suggests how historical and ideological assumptions and anxieties may be read into the texts they produce The study combines aspects of colonial and post colonial debate with narrative theories to illuminate the work of these writers operating on either side of an epistemological divide formed by Indian independence in 1947 The book focuses largely on British writers on India with chapters on Kipling E M Forster John Masters J G Farrell and Paul Scott A final comparative chapter traces the issues of narrative and power in the work of two post independence Indian writers Khushwant Singh and Rohinton Mistry and deals with the burden of storytelling in a post colonial situation still fraught with communal and neo colonial abuses This book is an important contribution to our understanding of how narrative fiction can reflect and confirm but also contest and dismantle discourses of power Features Offers new interpretations of well known texts and writers Suggests an agenda for studying new and less well known texts to examine the play of narrative and power more generally Demonstrates possible relations between narrative technique and those larger narratives which feed into the operation of political power Challenges exclusivist readings which have often asserted the colonial and the post colonial to be antithetical and mutually exclusive discursive entities
