A fascinating mixture of traditional psychoanalytic thinking with clinical strategies that even today would be considered creative and controversial. The Fifty Minute Hour has never failed to capture the imagination. No student's education in psychotherapy is complete without reading this book. Decades after its original publication it still stands as a pioneering landmark in the history of psychotherapy. John Suler      *THE FIFTY-MINUTE HOUR : A COLL. Slacktivism is a term that has been coined to cynically describe the token efforts that people devote to some cause without long term or meaningful impact. We wear colored wristbands, pins or ribbons proclaiming support for a particular organization. We might post something on social network sites or send messages to friends about causes dear to our hearts. We might even volunteer our time to work on behalf of marginalized, oppressed or neglected groups or donate money to a charity. Yet the key feature of significant social action is follow through: continuing efforts over a period of time so as to build meaningful relationships, provide adequate support and conduct evaluations to measure results and make needed adjustments that make programs even more responsive. This book is intended as an inspiration for practicing psychotherapists and counselors as well as students to become actively involved in a meaningful effort. The authors have searched far and wide to identify practitioners representing different disciplines, helping professions, geographic regions and social action projects, all of whom have been involved in social justice efforts for some time, whether in their own communities or in far flung regions of the world. Each of them has an amazing story to tell that reveals the challenges they've faced, the incredible satisfactions they've experienced and what lessons they've learned along the way. Each story represents a gem of wisdom, revealing both questions of faith as well as of sustained action. The authors have been encouraged to dig deeply in order to talk about the honest realities of their work. After reading their stories you will be ready to pick a cause that speaks to you and begin your own work.      The Massachusetts register, 1988      Fifty-Minute Hour Wendy Perriam, 2012-06

I like to hear his name especially when he says it. His voice is rich and dark like those jams they sell in tiny pots at twice the price of normal jars and they call preserves to justify the cost. I chose him for his name in fact: half Mayfair hairdresser and half Vatican incumbent. So speaks Nial, a woman with a man's name and confused about her gender, uncertain about most things save her obsession with John Paul. She shares this obsession with modest Mary and conscientious Bryan. All three lead secret lives. Mary, a conventional housewife with a dream home in the suburbs, is inflicting burns on her genitals and stockpiling vibrators. Bryan, a mother-harried city clerk, updates his Disaster Scrapbook and takes his snake to bed seeking refuge from Chaology and the horrors of the quantum revolution Nial swaps sex for blood drenched dreams of an ex Nazi butcher in the High Street All seek help and healing from the mysterious John Paul but is he sage and saviour or untrained unlicensed con man In her powerful and hilarious new novel Wendy Perriam mixes the blackest of black comedy with a serious examination of madness in its many forms the religious excesses of miracles and visions the crazy chaos of modern physics and especially the distortions of the fifty minute hour itself those wild or weeping sessions on the analyst s couch With her usual wit and gusto she explores the murky world of the psychologically disturbed a world as comically bizarre as it is genuinely tragic A screamingly funny book which almost blows the mind and will outrage the prudish Sunday Telegraph
