Forgotten Generation:

The Lost Generation Abigail Crawford, 2019-04-09 This poem describes a harrowing time in our history The author was inspired by the depth of feeling and the fear of being forgotten that plagued the writers of the lost generation We can see bits of that fear in ourselves and in others of our time It is easy to feel lost in a time of social media and technology This poem is a bridge that closes the gap between the two generations The author hopes it reminds people that nothing is ever truly lost

Secrets of the Heart Madlyn A. Fafard, 2010-02-23 Touching on miracles all around us waiting to be noticed Meggie has premonition of 9/11 a vision at her mother's deathbed and experiences dreams that answered her daughter's dying wish that they would communicate beyond the grave Truly a story for all of us bringing tears and joy to all readers because it is universal in life experience We all have secrets don't we You will find yourself in the story line What would you have done Music of the time fills the air as you dream your own past through the eyes of Meggie A good book club selection Great reviews on Amazon and Barnes and Noble A quick read for an airplane ride or a stormy night when you want to curl up and get absorbed in memories of love

Building a Nation Eric D. Duke, 2018-10-15 Caribbean Studies Association Gordon K and Sybil Lewis Award Honorable Mention The initial push for a federation among British Caribbean colonies might have originated among colonial officials and white elites but the banner for federation was quickly picked up by Afro Caribbean activists who saw in the possibility of a united West Indian nation a means of securing political power and more In Building a Nation Eric Duke moves beyond the narrow view of federation as only relevant to Caribbean and British imperial histories By examining support for federation among many Afro Caribbean and other black activists in and out of the West Indies Duke convincingly expands and connects the movement's history squarely into the wider history of political and social activism in the early to mid twentieth century black diaspora Exploring the relationships between the pursuit of Caribbean federation and black diaspora politics Duke convincingly posits that federation was more than a regional endeavor it was a diasporic black nation building undertaking with broad support in diaspora centers such as Harlem and London deeply immersed in ideas of racial unity racial uplift and black self determination A volume in this series New World Diasporas edited by Kevin A Yelvington
