

A pair of drafting compasses is shown in a dark, almost black, environment. The compasses are positioned diagonally, with the top-left leg pointing towards the upper left and the bottom-right leg pointing towards the lower right. The legs are made of a light-colored metal, possibly silver or chrome, and are slightly reflective. The background is dark with some subtle, lighter-toned curved lines that suggest a perspective or a specific lighting effect. The overall composition is minimalist and technical.
