Grasp Of Consciousness:

The Grasp of Consciousness (Psychology Revivals) Jean Piaget, 2015-10-05 Originally published in English in 1976 the book draws on and extends our knowledge of the process of learning The subject of the study is the general stage in a child's development that comes between his successful performance of an activity without knowing how he did it that is what he had to do in order to succeed and the times when he becomes aware of what went into that action The book reports the results of experiments conducted at the Centre of Genetic Epistemology Children ranging in age between four and adolescence were asked to perform such tasks as walking on all fours playing tiddlywinks building a ramp for a toy car They were then asked to explain how they had performed the task and in some cases to instruct the interviewer Their answers show a number of surprising inaccuracies in the child's ability to grasp the nature of what he has done Taking a broad view of his results Piaget shows that they reveal several stages in the gradual development of the child's conceptualization of his actions In analysing each stage Piaget argues that the child's concept of his own action cannot be considered a simple matter of enlightenment but must actively be reconstructed from his experience This view has always been at the core of Piaget's work and a new area of the child's mental world is here given definitive treatment

Phenomenology and the Physical Reality of Consciousness Arthur Melnick, 2011 The predominant positive view among philosophers and scientists alike is that consciousness is something realized in brain activity This view however largely fails to capture what consciousness is like according to how it shows itself to conscious beings What this work proposes instead is that consciousness is a phenomenon that exists in and throughout the body Apart from whether or not it involves intentionality and apart from whether or not it involves awareness of the self consciousness is self-intimating self-revealing self-disclosing Self-disclosure is the definitive phenomenological character of consciousness in all its forms Taking this stance as a point of departure the book presents a specific account of what bodily field phenomenon consciousness is In this way the current stalemate in philosophy over the question of the physical reality of consciousness is broken

A Science-Theology Rapprochement Cyril Orji, 2018-10-12 This timely and fascinating work addresses questions of ultimate concerns for Christian believers by clarifying what religious believers' statement God creates means in relation to the mechanistic determinism of science enthusiasts and the New Atheist Movement Drawing from the methodological works of C S Peirce Bernard Lonergan and Wolfhart Pannenberg the book creatively shows how the old science theology conflict or warfare can be turned into one of collaboration or rapprochement Using the works of these three thinkers it departs from the common practice of treating the field of science theology as an abstract mainstream theology The book takes a stand on contextual theology treating the problem posed by Richard Dawkins and his fellow New Atheists as one in need of a creative solution It also suggests that the dialogue between science and theology must take seriously the experiences and challenges from different social and cultural contexts The text shows how these experiences can lead to the kind of creative theological thinking we see in the works of Pannenberg and Lonergan who both explicate not only how an understanding of an evolutionary universe is compatible with the Christian doctrine of creation but also how a methodological comparison of science and theology reveals a common concern for human understanding and openness to divine agency
