Effective Schools In Developing Countries:

Effective Schools in Developing Countries Henry Levin, Marlane Lockheed, 2012-05-31 This volume brings together eight case studies which describe a variety of initiatives to create more effective schools for children of poverty especially in the Third World The initiatives reviewed published and unpublished documents and both qualitative and statistical studies were examined Countries include Brazil Burundi Colombia Ghana Nepal Sri Lanka Thailand and the United States Each initiative was developed independently to address unique challenges and situations but taken as a group the features of the approaches described in this volume can be viewed as a basis for considering the development of effective schools strategies in other contexts

Levin, 1991 School Management and Effectiveness in Developing Countries Clive Harber, Lynn Davies, 2006-02-08 This book is quite different from existing Western books on school effectiveness It describes and analyses the way in which schools operate in developing countries and also tries to explain why they are as they are Examining them at three levels the macro the meso and the micro the authors use a theoretical framework that they have termed post bureaucracy The book has four interlinked sections First the authors examine the existing economic and theoretical contexts around school effectiveness including an analysis of the causes of economic crisis and its impact on school management In the second section the analysis of schools as bureaucratic facades is proposed The reality of school life from which any theory of school effectiveness must derive is illustrated by an ethnographic account of the job of the headteacher in developing countries The third section explores different ways to understand this reality operating on three levels global relationships national and community cultures and individual agency In the final section Harber and Davies draw these levels and realities together They argue for the democratization of schools as the only way forward for effective education for development

Levin (ed), 1991 Effective Schools in Developing Countries (RLE Edu A) Henry Levin, Marlane Lockheed, 2012-05-31 This volume brings together eight case studies which describe a variety of initiatives to create more effective schools for children of poverty especially in the Third World The initiatives reviewed published and unpublished documents and both qualitative and statistical studies were examined Countries include Brazil Burundi Colombia Ghana Nepal Sri Lanka Thailand and the United States Each initiative was developed independently to address unique challenges and situations but taken as a group the features of the approaches described in this volume can be viewed as a basis for considering the development of effective schools strategies in other contexts

School Effectiveness in Developing Countries David Pennycuik, 1998 This report reviews literature and presents evidence and findings from empirical studies and syntheses that encompass a wide range of contexts and topics relating to school effectiveness The body of the report is arranged in seven sections The introduction discusses the need for effective schools and the concepts of effectiveness efficiency and quality with a note on the methodology of school effectiveness research Section 2 presents evidence on a range of specific interventions multigrade schools preprimary education school physical facilities interactive radio instruction textbooks and materials and health Section 3 looks at some curriculum and assessment issues the relation of curriculum content to economic growth vocational education and examination reform In section 4 factors influencing teacher effectiveness are considered Section 5 presents evidence from general studies and reviews of school effectiveness in developing countries Section 6 summarizes some relevant research from developed countries Finally Section 7 is devoted to policy implications Appendix A is an extract from the Terms of Reference and Appendix B is a table illustrating educational efficiency in developing countries Contains 57 references RT Research on Effective Schools Elchanan Cohn,1987 This paper provides a review of research on effective schools for both developed and less developed countries discusses some methodological questions and then offers a few guidelines for educational policy in less developed countries Perhaps the most important conclusion derived from the synthesis of the literature is that although additional funds for education appear to be a necessary condition for educational improvement merely spending more money is not a sufficient condition for improvement How the funds are used is of critical importance This survey concentrates on the how questions providing a general discussion of areas where educational improvements are likely to be realized

Raising School Quality in Developing Countries Bruce Fuller,1986 Low levels of student achievement and school quality persist in developing countries This document reviews the importance of school quality in increasing literacy and influencing economic growth in developing nations Improvements are discussed in terms of 1 school quality and economic development 2 defining school quality 3 improving school quality and 4 increasing school efficiency Evidence suggests that low school quality accounts for low literacy levels and achievement among children in developing nations and that little progress has occurred in improving school quality in the poorest countries since 1970 Definitions of school quality should focus on characteristics that influence student achievement and on efforts that encourage more efficient management and effective local school staff Little research has been conducted about the influence of teaching practices and classroom organization on achievement levels but access to textbooks and writing materials and teacher quality consistently influence student achievement Methods for studying the efficiency and cost effectiveness of management practices in terms of increased school quality are reviewed and investments that can be reduced without causing detrimental effects are identified Tables and a 94 item bibliography are included Author JHP Schools Count Ward Heneveld,Helen Craig,1996 World Bank Technical Paper No 303 Reviews the design of 26 projects in Sub Saharan Africa that were prepared by African governments and the World Bank for Bank funding The report concludes that school level factors need more attention in program design
