North Atlantic Crossroads Darrell Hillier,2021-08-16 North Atlantic Crossroads chronicles the activities of the Royal Air Force Ferry Command Gander unit during WWII Includes a detailed bibliography index endnotes and fifty photographs

Eyewitness RAF James Goulty,2020-12-14 A detailed realistic picture of what it was like to serve in the Royal Air Force during WWII both on the ground and in the air using firsthand accounts Much has been written about the Royal Air Force during the Second World War memoirs biographies histories of Fighter and Bomber commands technical studies of the aircraft accounts of individual operations and exploits but few books have attempted to take the reader on a journey through basic training and active service as air or ground crew and eventual demobilization at the end of the war That is the aim of James Goulty s Eyewitness RAF Using a vivid selection of testimony from men and women he offers a direct insight into every aspect of wartime life in the service Throughout the book the emphasis is on the individual s experience of the RAF the preparations for flying flying itself the daily routines of an air base time on leave and the issues of discipline morale and motivation A particularly graphic section describes in the words of the men themselves what it felt like to go on operations and the impact of casualties airmen who were killed injured or taken prisoner What emerges is a fascinatingly varied inside view of the RAF that is perhaps less heroic and glamorous than the image created by some postwar accounts but gives readers today a much more realistic appreciation of the whole gamut of life in the RAF seventy plus years ago Ferry Command Pilot Capt Donald M McVicar OBE, Donald McVicar, 2015-06-20 November 1940 after Hitler's Blitzkrieg devastated Europe Britain held out alone against the Nazis North American factories were producing badly needed warplanes in quantity but how to get them over there Nazi U boats were decimating freighter convoys with great loss of life and cargo including aircraft Why not fly them across It's hard for those of us in the 21st century to believe it but the stormy North Atlantic had rarely been flown in winter It was considered suicidal to even try Yet desperate times call for desperate measures This book honors the unique but little known group which beginning in November 1940 delivered almost 10 000 warplanes across the uncharted oceans suffering losses comparable to losses in combat Why did this brave group not become famous Well it had several names over the war years it was comprised of both military and civilian personnel from several countries and military organizations Best known as the Royal Air Force Ferry Command based in Montreal Quebec it evolved into No 45 Group RAF Transport Command with headquarters in England The most important reason This was a secret mission So for almost forty years the story of Ferry Command was unknown to the public Ferry Command Pilot is told firsthand from the pilot's seat by then twenty six year old Ferry Command Captain Don McVicar A Canadian civilian pilot he was unusual in that he was also a crack navigator and radio operator skills that brought him and his crews back from many dangerous missions He received the King's Commendation and the Order of the British Empire After a long turbulent career in Canadian aviation Don McVicar gathered together his many logbooks photographs memories and those of survivors with whom he had remained in touch and wrote the first real book about the Royal Air Force Ferry Command In 1981 Airlife published Ferry Command in hardcover followed by North Atlantic Cat A Change of Wings Mosquito Racer and More Than A Pilot His self published A Railroad From the Sky Distant Early Warning and From Cuba to Oblivion completed his acclaimed autobiographical aviation series In 1990 with Ferry Command sold out no longer in print but in demand by his readers worldwide he split it into Ferry Command Pilot and South Atlantic Safari which he self published printed on demand revolutionary ideas in 1990 After writing several hundred thousand well received words he had the confidence to make these versions a bit juicier truer to the wide open spirit of a bush pilot from the Canadian West He's not afraid to tell a corny joke or to tell the truth about some of his rougher landings Although Captain McVicar passed away in 1997 he foretold the power of the internet to help authors and artists in particular to get their work out into the world 2015 would have been his 100th birthday and is the 70th anniversary of the end of World War II Don McVicar would be pleased to see his book back out in the world This edition of Ferry Command Pilot was carefully illustrated edited and designed by his daughter Donna McVicar Kazo a professional artist editor writer and graphic designer It was important to Captain McVicar to identify those who flew with him even those whose performance was less than stellar Where else would their small yet vital contributions to the defeat of Hitler be recognized This edition is a tribute to all of those good guys and gals May we be so brave Air Supply Operations In The China-Burma-India Theater Between 1942 And 1945 Major Adrian Rainier Byers,2014-08-15 The USAAF responded to the requirement to keep China engaged against Japan by conducting two distinct air supply operations a tactical air supply mission to Burma and a strategic air supply effort over the Himalayas to China The tactical air supply effort to Burma supported offensive combat operations and the construction of the Ledo Road while the Hump airlift directly contributed to the American strategic objective Despite Stilwell s stubborn commitment to the Ledo Road as the main effort to supply the Chinese and to the necessary use of tactical air supply to support this and other ground operations in Burma the key contribution to the success of keeping China in the war against Japan was ultimately the strategic air supply missions over the Hump This thesis reviews how the operational airlift efforts within the CBI supported both efforts and examines the challenges processes and development of air supply The fundamental question associated with this effort concerns how the USAAF responded to seemingly competing air supply requirements in the CBI Theater in order to keep China in the war against Japan Flying Magazine ,1942-09 WASP of the Ferry Command Sarah Byrn Rickman,2016-03-15 WASP of the Ferry Command is the story of the women ferry pilots who flew more than nine million miles in 72 different aircraft 115 000 pilot hours for the Ferrying Division Air Transport Command during World War II In the spring of 1942 Col William H Tunner lacked sufficient male pilots to move vital trainer aircraft from the factory to the training fields Nancy Love found 28 experienced women pilots who could do the job They along with graduates of the Army s flight training school for women established by Jacqueline Cochran performed this duty until fall 1943 when manufacture of trainers ceased In December 1943 the women ferry pilots went back to school to learn to fly high performance WWII fighters known as pursuits By January 1944 they began delivering high performance P 51s 47s and 39s Prior to D Day and beyond P 51s were crucial to the air war over Germany They had the range to escort B 17s and B 24s from England to Berlin and back on bombing raids that ultimately brought down the German Reich Getting those pursuits to the docks in New Jersey for shipment abroad became these women s primary job Ultimately more than one hundred WASP pursuit pilots were engaged in this vital movement of aircraft Hearings United States.
