Forgotten Landscape:

A Forgotten Landscape: How A Place Called Crockett's Corner Became The Maine Mall M.M. Drymon PhD, 2015-10-25 A place called Crockett's Corner began as a seventeenth century colonial settlement that grew into a stable and sustainable nineteenth century American agrarian landscape. During the twentieth century in a rapid but staged process the landscape was changed into an edge city. These changes were the direct result especially after 1938 of prevailing public policies which acted to constrain some land uses while supporting others. Landscape change has had unintended consequences including local social network destruction, historic building demolition, and unmitigated air and non point source water pollution. Raising awareness of the deep history of this place may help empower advocates for historic preservation, open space, environmental protection, and more sustainable land use practices in the future. Rediscovering Lost Landscapes Pietro Piana, Charles Watkins, Ross Balzaretto, 2021. Analysis of hundreds of art works from the period provides insights into forgotten landscapes and hidden geographies. After the Napoleonic wars many wealthy British women and men settled along the coast in Liguria and travelled in Piedmont and Valle d'Aosta in search of warmth and health. They established English speaking colonies of retired clerics, colonial officials, aristocrats, and industrialists at places such as Alassio, Bordighera, Sanremo, and Portofino. Many were keen artists. This book assesses hundreds of topographical drawings, paintings, and photographs of north west Italy produced by these British visitors and residents in the nineteenth and early twentieth century. Through the identification and analysis of these works scattered today in private and public collections in Italy and Britain it provides insights into the way Italian landscapes were understood and appreciated. Considered in conjunction with historical photography, maps, archives, and fieldwork they deepen our knowledge of past land management traditions and recover how the contemporary landscape looked. The artists are placed in their intellectual and geographical contexts and interconnections between British and Italian artists and between topographical art and photography are explored. Different chapters assess the main subjects depicted including mountains, seascapes, rivers, agriculture, trees, and woodland, castles, churches, villages, industries, and landscapes of luxury. Finding the Forgotten John Beerman, John William Coffey, 1991. A Forgotten Landscape Ariana Mangum, 2008-11. A beautifully told comprehensive history of the Houghton family of Virginia during World War Two. A State of Change Laura Cunningham, 2010. It's hard to imagine California's landscape before European explorers arrived and recorded what they saw. Laura Cunningham's research goes well beyond that and her art brings that landscape to life once again. The Forgotten Landscape, 2014. Who Needs Experts? John Schofield, 2016-02-17. Taking the significant Faro Convention on the Value of Cultural Heritage for Society Council of Europe 2005 as its starting point, this book presents pragmatic views on the rise of the local and the everyday within cultural heritage discourse. Bringing together a range of case studies within a broad geographic context, it examines ways in which authorised or expert views of heritage can be challenged and recognises how everyone has expertise in familiarity with their local environment The book concludes that local agenda and everyday places matter and examines how a realignment of heritage practice to accommodate such things could usefully contribute to more inclusive and socially relevant cultural agenda Europe's Living Landscapes Bas Pedroli, Anne van Doorn, Geert de Blust, 2014-12-22 This book is the result of three symposia of the Dutch Society for Landscape Ecology The first symposium in 2005 was about the National Ecological Network in the Netherlands The reason was that the implementation of the NEN decided upon in 1990 was halfway The second symposium in 2006 was about urban ecology and the third one to be held in 2007 will be about civil infrastructure This book does not cover the conferences completely and new contributions are added The three themes are important contexts in which landscape ecologists do their research and apply their knowledge and skills Of course there are many more subjects to hold conferences about for example climate change urbanisation agriculture landscape ecology itself etc The focus of the conferences is on the Netherlands with its urbanisation intensive land use and water management as characteristic features Although many WLO members do their work abroad or in an international context these conferences offer a window on what happens in the Dutch context The experiences may be of value for other contexts and that is why we present the results in English The selected themes and the focus on the Dutch context are serious demarcations of what landscape ecology in the Netherlands is all about The book does not represent all research and applications of landscape ecology Blackwood's Magazine ,1927 Landscape Architecture ,2002 Dominicana ,1903 The Accursed Joyce Carol Oates, 2013-03-05 Joyce Carol Oates has written what may be the world's finest postmodern Gothic novel E L Doctorow's Ragtime set in Dracula's castle It's dense challenging problematic horrifying funny prolix and full of crazy people You should read it Stephen King New York Times Book Review Princeton New Jersey at the turn of the 20th century a tranquil place to raise a family a genteel town for genteel souls But something dark and dangerous lurks at the edges of the town corrupting and infecting its residents Vampires and ghosts haunt the dreams of the innocent A powerful curse besets the elite families of Princeton their daughters begin disappearing A young bride on the verge of the altar is seduced and abducted by a dangerously compelling man a shape shifting vaguely European prince who might just be the devil and who spreads his curse upon a richly deserving community of white Anglo Saxon privilege And in the Pine Barrens that border the town a lush and terrifying underworld opens up When the bride's brother sets out against all odds to find her his path will cross those of Princeton's most formidable people from Grover Cleveland fresh out of his second term in the White House and retired to town for a quieter life to soon to be commander in chief Woodrow Wilson president of the University and a complex individual obsessed to the point of madness with his need to retain power from the young Socialist idealist Upton Sinclair to his charismatic comrade Jack London and the most famous writer of the era Samuel Clemens Mark Twain all plagued by accursed visions Narrated with Oates's unmistakable psychological insight The Accursed combines beautifully transporting historical detail with chilling supernatural elements to stunning effect Review of the Principal Acquisitions ,1928
