1. BACKGROUND & EVOLUTION OF ACCOUNTING

In modern era, a business enterprise is no more confined within any geographical or economical frontiers. With developments in mass communication and Information Technology, business has expanded globally. It is just a matter of few minutes, where a consumer sitting anywhere in the world can purchase anything online from any store throughout the world. Using online shopping, he can select the product out of given choices, make payment online in any currency and get the product delivered within reasonable time. The transactions have been so easy and transparent and thus involve many accounting aspects.

But, is it so, that such transaction of sale or purchase of goods, receiving or paying cash, etc. has emerged recently? The answer is NO. The history of accounting is thousands of years old and can be traced to ancient civilizations. A research has revealed that some accounting records have been founded in Mesopotamia, Turkey, which dated back more than 7000 years. Those records revealed that in that period also people were maintaining list of Expenditure, List of Goods Received, etc. Chanakya - the scholar & guardian of Emperor Chandragupta Maurya in 4th Century has mentioned about accounting and auditing in "Kautilya's Arthashastra". In ancient times, every king's cabinet comprised of a person namely "Munimji", who was entrusted with responsibility of maintaining all records of revenue earned, taxes collected from province, expenditure incurred on development of province, expenses incurred on maintaining military and defence, etc. At that time, this activity was termed as "Hisab-Kitab" or "Lekha-Jokha", which later developed with time and experience.

Due to cross border transactions and increasing competitiveness, worldwide business community felt need of uniform set of rules guiding for accounting enabling them to do inter-firm and intra-firm comparison. This need resulted in evolution of many global accounting bodies such as American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), etc. Consequently, accounting body in India, The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI), was setup under the act of parliament on 1st July 1949.
