French Faust

William Dwight Whitney

French Faust:

French Translations of Goethe's Faust II. Harry Linville Stout, 1959 "Faust" in Music Coit Roscoe Hoechst, 1916

Goethe's Faust I Outlined Evanghelia Stead, 2023-07-24 In a new approach to Goethe's Faust I Evanghelia Stead extensively discusses Moritz Retzsch's twenty-six outline prints 1816 and how their spin-offs made the unfathomable play available to larger reader communities through copying and extensive distribution circuits including bespoke gifts. The images amply transformed as they travelled throughout Europe and overseas revealing differences between countries and cultures but also their pliability and resilience whenever remediated. This interdisciplinary investigation evidences the importance of print culture throughout the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries in nations involved in competition and conflict. Retzsch's foundational set crucially engenders parody and inspires the stage literature and three-dimensional objects well beyond common perceptions of print culture's influence. This contention is central to Grafting Helen. Matthew Gumpert's original and dazzling meditation on Helen of Troy as a crucial anchor for much of Western thought and literature. Grafting Helen looks at classicism the privileged rhetorical language for describing cultural origins in the West as a protracted form of cultural embezzlement. No coin in the realm has been more valuable more circulated more coveted or more counterfeited than the one that bears the face of Helen of Troy. Gumpert uncovers Helen as the emblem for the past as something to be stolen appropriated imitated extorted and coveted once again. Tracing the figure of Helen from its classical origins through the Middle Ages the French Renaissance and the modern era Gumpert suggests that the relation of current Western culture to the past is not like the act of coveting it is the act of coveting he argues for it relies on the same strategies the same defenses the same denials and the same delusions Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum, 1894

Highly critical of the Bank's practices in its 50 years of operation the author demonstrates how the Bank has become virtually unaccountable and a law unto itself. He describes how the Bank has supported oppressive regimes and loaned money to support large projects which have displaced local populations. He argues further that the Bank's current policies of structural adjustment are arresting the development of Third World countries Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum.
