Exploring Architecture Eleanor Gawne,2004 The Routledge Companion to Design Studies Penny Sparke,Fiona Fisher,2016-06-17 Since the 1990s in response to dramatic transformations in the worlds of technology and the economy design a once relatively definable discipline complete with a set of sub disciplines has become unrecognizable Consequently design scholars have begun to address new issues themes and sub disciplines such as sustainable design design for well being empathic design design activism design anthropology and many more The Routledge Companion to Design Studies charts this new expanded spectrum and embraces the wide range of scholarship relating to design theoretical practice related and historical that has emerged over the last four decades Comprised of forty three newly commissioned essays the Companion is organized into the following six sections Defining Design Discipline Process Defining Design Objects Spaces Designing Identities Gender Sexuality Age Nation Designing Society Empathy Responsibility Consumption the Everyday Design and Politics Activism Intervention Regulation Designing the World Globalization Transnationalism Translation Contributors include both established and emerging scholars and the essays offer an international scope covering work emanating from and relating to design in the United Kingdom mainland Europe North America Asia Australasia and Africa This comprehensive collection makes an original and significant contribution to the field of Design Studies Exploration and Meaning Making in the Learning of Science Bernard Zubrowski,2009-08-14 Mountaineers Rock Climbers and Science Educators Around the 1920s rock climbing separated from mountaineering to become a separate sport At that time European climbers developed new equipment and techniques enabling them to ascend mountain faces and to climb rocks which were considered unassailable up to that time American climbers went further by expanding and improving on the equipment They even developed a system of quantification where points were given for the degree of difficulty of an ascent This system focused primarily on the pitch of the mountain and it even calculated up to de mals to give a high degree of quantification Rock climbing became a technical system Csikszentmihaly 1976 observed that the sole interest of rock climbers at that time was to climb the rock Rock climbers were known to reach the top and not even glance around at the scenery The focus was on reaching the top of the rock In contrast mountaineers saw the whole mountain as a single unit of perc tion The ascent to them is a gestalt including the aesthetic historical personal and physical sensations Csikszentmihaly 1976 p 486 This is an example of two contrasting approaches to the same kind of landscape and of two different groups of people Interestingly in the US Europe and Japan a large segment of the early rock climbers were young mathematicians and theoretical physicists while the mountaineers were a more varied lot The American Architect and Building News ,1883

Building Meaning Tamara Metz,2021-12-30 Building Meaning An Architecture Studio Primer on Design Theory and History is an essential introduction to the complex relationship between form making historical analysis and conceptual explorations This book focuses on the relationship and interdependence between design theory and history for an innovative and holistic studio approach Rather than suggest a singular narrative this book draws from a diverse range of thinkers and designers to highlight the many interpretations of key architectural concepts and provides readers with the context essential for developing their own approaches to any design problem Building Meaning is organized to reflect the typical studio process with stand alone chapters that provide flexibility for use at any stage of design The ideal book for beginning and intermediate architecture students it gives specific methods to apply in the studio to make the most of the design process as well as focused exercises to creatively explore each concept presented Illustrated with more than 250 color images it enables readers to engage and understand critically the genesis of architectural ideas and their role in our social and cultural experience

Elements of Architecture Mikkel Bille, Tim Flohr Sorensen, 2016-02-26 Elements of Architecture explores new ways of engaging architecture in archaeology It conceives of architecture both as the physical evidence of past societies and as existing beyond the physical environment considering how people in the past have not just dwelled in buildings but have existed within them The book engages with the meeting point between these two perspectives For although archaeologists must deal with the presence and absence of physicality as a discipline which studies humans through things to understand humans they must also address the performances as well as temporal and affective impacts of these material remains The contributions in this volume investigate the way time performance and movement both physically and emotionally are central aspects of understanding architectural assemblages It is a book about the constellations of people places and things that emerge and dissolve as affective mobile performative and temporal engagements This volume juxtaposes archaeological research with perspectives from anthropology architecture cultural geography and philosophy in order to explore the kaleidoscopic intersections of elements coming together in architecture Documenting the ephemeral relational and emotional meeting points with a category of material objects that have defined much research into what it means to be human Elements of Architecture elucidates and expands upon a crucial body of evidence which allows us to explore the lives and interactions of past societies

Confabulations : Storytelling in Architecture Paul Emmons, Marcia F. Feuerstein, Carolina Dayer, 2016-12-19 Confabulation is a drawing together through storytelling Fundamental to our perception memory and thought is the way we join fractured experiences to construct a narrative Confabulations Storytelling in Architecture weaves together poetic ideas objects and events and returns you to everyday experiences of life through juxtapositions with dreams fantasies and hypotheticals It follows the intellectual and creative framework of architectural cosmopoiesis developed and practiced by the distinguished thinker architect and professor Dr Marco Frascari who thought deeply about the role of storytelling in architecture Bringing together a collection of 24 essays from a diverse and respected group of scholars this book presents the convergence of architecture and storytelling across a broad temporal geographic and cultural range Beginning with an introduction framing the topic the book is organized along a continuous thread structured around four key areas architecture of stories stories of architecture stories of theory and practice of stories Beautifully illustrated throughout and including a 64 page full colour section Confabulations is an insightful investigation into architectural narratives
