Groupware David Marca, Geoffrey Bock, 1992 Computer-Supported Cooperative Work Uwe M. Borghoff, Johann H. Schlichter, 2013-11-09 The terms groupware and CSCW computer supported cooperative work have received significant attention in computer science and related disciplines for quite some time now This book is a revised and extended version of the 2nd edition of the German textbook Rechnergestützte Gruppenarbeit Eine Einführung in verteilte Anwendungen It has two main objectives first to outline the meaning of both terms and second to point out both the numerous opportunities for users of groupware and the risks of applying such systems The book intends to introduce an area of distributed systems namely the computer support of individuals trying to solve a common problem in cooperation with each other but not necessarily having identical work places or working times Computer supported cooperative work is an interdisciplinary application domain It can be viewed as a synergism between the areas of distributed systems and multimedia communication on the one hand and between those of information science and socio organizational theory on the other hand Thus the book is meant to help students of all these disciplines as well as users and developers of systems which have communication and cooperation within groups as top priorities The Design of Computer Supported Cooperative Work and Groupware Systems Dan Shapiro, Michael Tauber, Roland Traunmüller, 1996-03-29 The phrases the information superhighway and the information society are on almost everyone's lips CSCW and groupware systems are the key to bringing those phrases to life To an extent that would scarcely have been imaginable a few years ago the contributions in this volume speak to each other and to a broader interdisciplinary context The areas of ethnography and design the requirements and principles of CSCW design CSCW languages and environments and the evaluation of CSCW systems are brought together to bring to light how activities in working domains are really in practice carried out The aim above all is to do justice to the creativity and versatility of those whose work they aim to support Computer Supported Cooperative Work in Design III Weiming Shen, Junzhou Luo, Zongkai Lin, Jean-Paul A. Human-Computer Interaction Steve Howard,Judy Hammond,Gitte Lindgaard,2013-06-05 The theme of the 1997 INTERACT conference Discovering New Worlds ofHCI signals major changes that are taking place with the expansion of new technologies into fresh areas of work and leisure throughout the world and new pervasive powerful systems based on multimedia and the internet HCI has a vital role to play in these new worlds to ensure that people using the new technologies are empowered rather than subjugated to the technology that they increasingly have to use In addition outcomes from HCI research studies over the past 20 years are now finding their way into many organisations and helping to improve and enhance work practices These factors have strongly influenced the INTERACT 97 Committee when creating the conference programme with the result that besides the more traditional HCI research and education focus found in previous INTERACT conferences one strand of the 1997 conference has been devoted to industry and another to multimedia The growth in the IFIP TC13 committee itself reflects the expansion of HCI into new worlds Membership of IFIP TC13 has risen to now include representatives of 24 IFIP member country societies from many parts of the world In 1997 IFIP TC13 breaks new ground by holding its sixth INTERACT conference in the Asia Pacific region This is a significant departure from previous INTERACT conferences that were all held in Europe and is especially important for the Asia Pacific region as HCI expands beyond its traditional base
