America's First Female President...2016? Thomas E. Davis,2016-04-06 America s First Female President 2016 takes the reader on an extensive cruise of our early history Life on this last habitable continent on Planet Earth to be settled began about 15 000 years ago when immigrants from Asia settled into the Paisley Cave Complex on the Oregon Coast near the Willamette River This date was verified by carbon dating a specimen from a Human Coprolite Petrified Feces Until that find the title of first immigrants belonged to other migrants dated some 4 000 years later known as the Clovis people because beautifully crafted stone spear and arrow points were found in Blackwater Draw near Clovis NM The First Christian settlers British colonials arrived at Jamestown VA in 1607 followed in 1620 by the Puritan Pilgrims seeking a home in which they were free to worship God as they chose They were loyal British Subjects until around 1770 when unjust taxes and laws were forced upon them by an Obnoxious Magistrate They ended up fighting a War of Independence were victorious and in 1787 issued the world's first document of Governance establishing a Constitutional Federalist Republic The United States of America One outstanding flaw has been persistent Gender bias No Female to date has been elected to the Presidency in contrast to at least 57 other nations who have elected or appointed a female chief executive or Head of Government This magnificent republic has failed to utilize the skills abilities and character of our many millions of quality females from 1619 until today not one single female has been allowed to formulate contribute to or be a signatory to any of our documents of governance Gender Bias is criminal and a waste of talent and resources with which we have been so generously blessed We are now in the 2016 Election cycle and just one female has decided to run for the top spot it appears that we must wait at least another four years It apparently will not occur in this author's lifetime since he is now 91
