Robotic Exploration of the Solar System Paolo Ulivi, David M. Harland, 2012-08-14 Paolo Ulivi and David Harland provide in Robotic Exploration of the Solar System a detailed history of unmanned missions of exploration of our Solar System. The subject is treated from an engineering and scientific standpoint. Technical descriptions of the spacecraft of their mission designs and of instrumentations are provided. Scientific results are discussed in considerable depth together with details of mission management. The project will deliver four volumes totaling over 2 000 pages that will provide comprehensive coverage of the topic with thousands of references to the professional literature that should make it the first port of call for people seeking information on the topic. The books will cover missions from the 1950s until the present day and some of the latest missions and their results will appear in a popular science book for the first time.

Space Exploration Programs and Space Sciences, 1966 Demonstration and Evaluation of "solid-state" Photomultiplier Tube for Uranium Exploration Instrumentation R. M. Polichar, 1979 Spacecraft that Explored the Inner Planets Venus and Mercury Thomas Lund, 2023-07-03 A series of increasingly capable spacecraft were sent to explore the inner planets Venus and Mercury. The history of that planetary exploration is traced in this book along with the evolution of sophisticated spacecraft that unveiled long sought secrets of the planets. The spacecraft were ingenious and reflected the best efforts of talented people working with the available technology of the day. Additionally this book showcases engineering involved in those capable machines. A consecutive series of 34 planetary spacecraft which span the time period 1961 to 2021 are described. This includes the unsuccessful missions of several early spacecraft that paved the way for a better understanding of Venus hostile environments. This book will describe many successful spacecraft sent to Venus by the Soviet Union and many successful spacecraft sent to Venus and to Mercury by the United States. The recent exploration of Venus by the European Space Agency's Venus Express and the Japanese spacecraft Akatsuki can also be found in this book. The author draws on over 50 years of experience on aircraft and spacecraft systems to tell the story of these planetary spacecraft. The spacecraft experience includes being the technical lead for the landing radars on the Surveyor and Apollo lunar landers as well as providing analyses for the rendezvous radar for the Space Shuttle. Practical engineering experience is augmented by Master's degrees in electrical engineering, physics, and business administration.

The Ethics of Space Exploration James S.J. Schwartz, Tony Milligan, 2016-07-25. This book aims to contribute significantly to the understanding of issues of value including the ultimate value of space-related activities which repeatedly emerge in interdisciplinary discussions on space and society. Although a recurring feature of discussions about space in the humanities, the treatment of value questions has tended to be patchy, of uneven quality, and even on occasion idiosyncratic rather than drawing upon a close familiarity with state-of-the-art ethical theory. One of the volume's aims is to promote a more robust and theoretically informed approach to the ethical dimension of discussions on space and society. While the contributions are written in a manner which is accessible across disciplines, the book still withstands scrutiny by those whose work is primarily on ethics. At the same time, it allows academics across a range of disciplines an insight into current approaches toward how the work of ethics gets done. The issues of value raised could be used to inform debates about regulation, space law, and protocols for microbial discovery as well as longer range policy debates about funding.

Exploring Venus as a Terrestrial Planet Larry W. Esposito, Ellen R. Stofan, Thomas E. Cravens, 2007-01-09. Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 176. With the search for extra solar planets in full gear, it has become essential to gain a more detailed understanding of the evolution of the other earth-like planets in our own solar system. Space missions to Venus including the Soviet Veneras, Pioneer Venus, and Magellan provided a wealth of information about this planet's enigmatic surface and atmosphere but left many fundamental questions about its origin and evolution unanswered. This book discusses how the study of Venus will aid our understanding of terrestrial and extra solar planet evolution with particular reference to surface and interior processes, atmospheric circulation, chemistry, and aeronomy.

Incorporating results from the recent European Venus Express mission Exploring Venus as a Terrestrial Planet examines the open questions and relates them to Earth and other terrestrial planets The goal is to stimulate thinking about those broader issues as the new Venus data arrive
