Empire Girls Mandy Treagus,2014-05-12 The dominant form of the nineteenth century novel was the Bildungsroman a story of an individual's development that came to speak more widely of the aspirations of nineteenth century British society Some of the most famous examples David Copperfield Great Expectations Jane Eyre validated the world from which they sprang in which even orphans could successfully make their way Empire Girls the colonial heroine comes of age is a critical examination of three novels by writers from different regions of the British Empire Olive Schreiner's The Story of An African Farm South Africa Sara Jeannette Duncan's A Daughter of Today Canada and Henry Handel Richardson's The Getting of Wisdom Australia All three novels commence as conventional Bildungsromane yet the plots of all diverge from the usual narrative structure as a result of both their colonial origins and the clash between their aspirational heroines and the plots available to them In an analysis including gender empire nation and race Empire Girls provides new critical perspectives on the ways in which this dominant narrative form performs very differently when taken out of its metropolitan setting

An Exposition of the Old Testament, etc John GILL (D.D., Baptist Minister, at Horsley Down.), 1810 An Outline of Australian Literature Henry Mackenzie Green, 1930 The Preacher's Complete Homiletical Commentary on the Old Testament Anonymous, 1892 Unity, 1899 Śikshā-samuccaya William Henry Denham Rouse, 1922 River of Ink Thomas Christensen, 2014-10-20

With its title harkening back to the sack of Baghdad in 1258 when the Tigris ran black with the ink of books flung into the water by Mongol invaders, River of Ink is a collection of essays that range widely across time and cultures to illuminate the role of literature and art throughout history. Christensen draws from a panoply of subjects from the writings of prehistoric Chinese cultures known only through archaeology to the heroic efforts of contemporary Afghans to keep the legacy of their ancient culture alive under the barrage of endless war. Christensen's encyclopedic knowledge of world art and vast understanding of literature allows him to move easily from a discussion of the invention of moveable type in Korea to Johannes Kepler's search for the harmony of the spheres to the strange journey of an iron sculpture from Benin to the Louvre. Other essays cover the Popol Vuh of the Maya as exemplum of translation, the pioneering explorations of the early American naturalist John Bartram, and the balletic works of Louis Ferdinand Celine. It is Christensen's gift to see the world whole to offer a wealth of connections vital for us as citizens of a rapidly globalizing world.
